

Farmers are shown what to look for when buying seeds and how to plant in the hole (pit) of 30 cm wide by 30cm long and 20 cm deep.

Maize Seed distribution to four farmers' clusters and 1 lead farmer for conservation agriculture demonstration plots.

Community sensitization meetings were fruitful as they made the community members to support the project with full force through their participation in the activities.

Community volunteers who were also identified as Farmers' Cluster coordinators had meeting with the Chairpersons of the clusters discussing about how to work together as a team.

Women as equal partners in development were also included in all the activities of the project.
