Organization's mission:	Collateral Repair Project is a grassroots effort to bring much needed assistance to refugees and other victims of war and conflict - those commonly referred to as "collateral damage." We seek to repair some of this damage and, through these efforts, foster peace and reconciliation. We are located in Amman, Jordan - temporary home to hundreds of thousands of Iraqi and Syrian refugees.

Legal status of organization:	Collateral Repair Project is a registered 501(c)(3) not-for-profit organization in the United States of America, and is registered with Jordan's Ministry of Social Development. Collateral Repair Project provides emergency services and community programming to urban refugees in Amman, Jordan.
Registration numbers:	Jordanian Government registration number: 2014011114198 IRS EIN: 20-4928141 DUNS Number: 031854443
Background:	CRP was founded in 2006 to aid refugees fleeing the violence of the second Gulf War and has been providing assistance to victims of violent conflict since 2006. In addition to Iraqi refugees, we serve Syrians who have arrived in Amman in huge numbers, refugees of other nationalities and Jordanians living in extreme poverty. CRP seeks to restore dignity and community among these displaced populations and to ensure that their basic food and housing needs are met. We provide emergency assistance to hundreds of families through in-kind aid, information and referral services, and a monthly food voucher program that provides eligible households with coupons to purchase fresh produce and groceries. CRP's Family Resource and Community Center offers many activities and learning opportunities to allow refugees to begin to rebuild the communities they lost after fleeing their home countries.

CRP's strengths include over 10 years of experience and knowledge about the refugee community in East Amman and strong relationships with the beneficiaries we serve. Our community center is a place where many refugees, largely prohibited by Jordanian law from working, spend their days. As a result, CRP has cultivated strong grassroots support from beneficiaries, many of whom go on to become volunteers and aid others to access programs and services.
